

I fly often and when I heard that cellular phones might be allowed on planes I cringed. I can not imagine being a plane for hours listening to several travelers having conversations on their phones. If this law goes into affect I may have to find other means of transportation.